v3.5

[Verse]

Tiny hands you cannot see
Breaking down what used to be
A dance of life in every grain
From rot emerges life's refrain

[Verse 2]

Flesh dissolves as time will weave
A web of life you won't believe
The seeds are freed to find their ground
In death new life is always found

[Chorus]

Decay it whispers life's own plan
A cycle written in the land
Where microbes toil in silent play
To turn the night into the day

[Bridge]

Nourishment flows from what has died
A cradle for the seeds to bide
Each cell a story left behind
A masterpiece by nature signed

[Verse 3]

A fruit once sweet now fades away
Its purpose met in this ballet
From earth to earth the circle spins
A quiet end but life begins

[Chorus]

Decay it whispers life's own plan
A cycle written in the land
Where microbes toil in silent play
To turn the night into the day
