

Viking Word Match

Curriculum Visions

Match the word to the definition by drawing a line from one to the other.

Longhouse	A group of Viking gods. They include Odin, Thor, Frigg and Loki
Fjord	Something heavy used to weigh down a boat in order to improve its stability and control
Ballast	A framework of woven rods and twigs covered with clay. They were used to make buildings
Raid	A person with religious beliefs different to the mainstream religions in the world
Aesir	The large shared house that Vikings lived in
Pagan	A Viking slave
Thrall	To arrive quickly and take anything of value by force, then leave
Wattle and Daub	A long, narrow rock-bound inlet from the sea

Viking Word Match

Curriculum Visions

Match the word to the definition by drawing a line from one to the other.

The image shows a word match exercise. On the left, there are eight words: Longhouse, Fjord, Ballast, Raid, Aesir, Pagan, Thrall, and Wattle and Daub. On the right, there are eight definitions. Lines are drawn from each word to its corresponding definition. The connections are: Longhouse to 'The large shared house that Vikings lived in'; Fjord to 'A long, narrow rock-bound inlet from the sea'; Ballast to 'Something heavy used to weigh down a boat in order to improve its stability and control'; Raid to 'To arrive quickly and take anything of value by force, then leave'; Aesir to 'A group of Viking gods. They include Odin, Thor, Frigg and Loki'; Pagan to 'A person with religious beliefs different to the mainstream religions in the world'; Thrall to 'A Viking slave'; and Wattle and Daub to 'A framework of woven rods and twigs covered with clay. They were used to make buildings'.

Longhouse	A group of Viking gods. They include Odin, Thor, Frigg and Loki
Fjord	Something heavy used to weigh down a boat in order to improve its stability and control
Ballast	A framework of woven rods and twigs covered with clay. They were used to make buildings
Raid	A person with religious beliefs different to the mainstream religions in the world
Aesir	The large shared house that Vikings lived in
Pagan	A Viking slave
Thrall	To arrive quickly and take anything of value by force, then leave
Wattle and Daub	A long, narrow rock-bound inlet from the sea